

“The only hope of a decreasing self is an increasing Christ.” – F.B. Meyer

I recently met with a Christian woman who had come from out of town for counsel (after having spent 9 years in secular therapy). She wept openly for three hours about the wreckage of her marriage – and her life. With the compassion that can only be attributed to the indwelling

Accountability:

- Income – n